

Dear John,

In 2012 we embarked on the Campaign for UC San Diego. We set priorities to enhance the student experience, our campus, and, ultimately, the world. Thanks to your support, we surpassed our ambitious $2 billion goal three years early. For this, you have my sincere gratitude. But we are just getting started. Despite this significant achievement, we still have more to do for our students.

As we move forward, the focus on student support and success will expand and intensify through a comprehensive network of academic, social, and personal resources. We will find solutions — including scholarships and fellowships — to increase student support. Our success programs will provide tools to help students graduate with a diverse set of skills and grow into the changemakers of the future. Through the power of your gifts and actions, you stand at my side. I need you as we forge ahead in this vital endeavor.

I am deeply devoted to ensuring access to UC San Diego and promoting student well-being, now and long into the future. It takes a collective effort to ensure our students' success, in the classroom and far beyond. Every year, on commencement day, I am moved and humbled by the crowd of accomplished students eager to receive their diplomas. As we strive to meet the evolving needs of our students, I thank you for your role thus far. Please join me in fulfilling this life-changing student support and success initiative.

Sincerely,

Pradeep K. Khosla
